Adverse Event Case Narrative

A 33-year-old male patient weighing 75 kg with a documented history of asthma and seasonal allergies was prescribed Ibuprofen 400 mg orally for acute lower back pain. Therapy started on 03-Mar-2026 and ended on 06-Mar-2026.

On 05-Mar-2026 the patient developed acute kidney injury, nausea, and swelling of the face and lips (angioedema). The reaction was assessed as severe. The patient was admitted to the hospital for observation and intravenous fluids. The suspected medication was discontinued immediately. The patient gradually recovered over the following week.
